Cancer Patients Get a Boost From the Green & Gold
Green Bay Head Coach Mike Sherman Pays a Visit

In typical Mike Sherman fashion, the head coach arrived quietly at St. Luke's on Wednesday without fanfare and hoopla to visit with cancer patients. For four years, Coach Sherman has brought the Green Bay team goodwill and spread cheer to our many cancer patients and this year was no exception. Arriving alone, Coach Sherman started his four-hour visit at our Radiation Oncology department, then went to the Vince Lombardi Cancer Clinic and then ended up on 12ST to visit with inpatients.

He visited with over two dozen patients, family members and friends, even putting on a gown and mask to talk to the patients in the Stem Cell Transplant unit. He made sure a photo was taken with each patient, as well as group photos with employees. Coach Sherman’s generosity and kindness is truly appreciated by all of us here at St. Luke's. He has a wonderful rapport with patients and his presence brings them much needed joy.

Check Out the Latest Uniform “Fashions” and Experience Up to 45% in Savings

Scrubs, lab coats and comfortable shoes are all “in” this year, according to the hottest hospital fashion designers. To see for yourself, come to the first-ever monthly Uniform Event at St. Luke’s on Wednesday, March 16. Not only can you see a wide range of uniform options, but thanks to Aurora’s partnership with our vendor, PRN Health Services, you also can purchase clothing at savings up to 45% off retail prices.

Aurora recently consolidated its medical clothing purchasing with one vendor. This allowed us to both reduce our costs and offer employees better savings. In addition, you now will be able to shop online by visiting www.aurauuniformsatprn.com. You can pay for purchases through payroll deduction, check or credit cards. You can even purchase gift certificates.

Watch for future uniform events the third Wednesday of every month!

Looking for the big blue recycling bins we use for paper? They have not disappeared, only moved to new locations throughout the hospital. During the state survey in November, we were cited for having combustibles in our hallways. The big blue containers are considered a fire hazard and are too large.

To comply with the citation, we now have specially designated recycling rooms throughout the hospital with the exception of the Patient Tower. These rooms will now house the big blue carts.

The recycling rooms are unlocked, but the blue bins will continue to be locked due to HIPAA concerns.

Below is a chart of the new recycling rooms and which departments should use those designated rooms. We appreciate your patience as we transition to this new approach to ensure we are compliant with this important safety precaution. If you have any questions about the recycling change please call Lynn Schubert at 649-5456.

As health care providers, many of us understand how important it is for those providing care to be aware of a patient’s values and beliefs in regard to their care. Advance directives offer individuals the opportunity to convey these wishes in writing to ensure they will be acted upon should a person become incapacitated. A Power of Attorney for Health Care is the most broadly applicable document for these purposes. It allows an individual to name someone to be their voice in expressing the wishes of the patient should the person become unable to convey their wishes on their own.

As part of National Social Work month, the Social Work Department at St. Luke’s will offer employees an opportunity to complete a Power of Attorney for Health Care.

On Wednesday, March 16, interested employees can come to the hospital cafeteria from 11 am to 2 pm to have their questions answered and receive assistance with completion of this important document. Witnesses for the signing will be available to make the document legal. Treats will be available to those who complete a Power of Attorney for Health Care. This is a free program for all St. Luke’s employees.

Consider completing a Power of Attorney for Health Care for your own benefit, and for the benefit of your loved ones, so that they are not put in a situation where they don’t know what you would have wanted.

Free to all employees!
On Monday, March 7 the critical care laboratory (commonly referred to as GAS Lab), now located on the third floor of Knisely building, will be moving to the first floor main laboratory. This move will allow for space on the third floor for a new ICU waiting area when surgical ICU moves back to this area.

Important Information for Staff

- Beginning March 8 employees should use tube station number 91 1 rather than station 21 5 to send samples to the critical care lab.

- The docking station for the SureStep glucose monitoring meters also will be relocated to the main lab on the first floor of Knisely.

- You can enter the main lab on the first floor adjacent to the Knisely elevators.

Map Learning Update

Space Available in March Sessions

There is still space available in two of the four sessions scheduled for March. March 17 and 21 are still open, so sign up today if you would like to attend in March.

All other sessions listed on Learning Connection have openings at this time. Just log on and sign up for the session of your choice.

Correction to April 14 Time

Please note that in a previous issue of St. Luke’s Today we incorrectly listed the time of the April 14 map learning session. The correct time for this session is 8 am until 11 am. The correct time is listed on Learning Connection.

We Want Your Input

If you have completed the map learning session, we would like to hear from you. Just log onto Learning Connection and complete the online evaluation form. Your input on this process is very valuable and will help Aurora evaluate this tool for future use.
